B. Use of estimates

The preparation of the financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

C. Cash and cash equivalents

For purposes of the statement of cash flows, the Company considers all highly liquid debt instruments purchased with a maturity of three months or less to be cash equivalents.

D: Reserve for bad debts

E. Securities owned and revenue recognition of securities transactions

Customers' and brokers' and dealers' securities and commodities transactions are recorded on a settlement date basis with related commission income and expenses recorded on a trade date basis. Securities and commodities transactions of the Company are recorded on a trade date basis.

Amounts receivable and payable for securities transactions that have not reached their contractual settlement date are recorded net on the statement of financial condition.

Marketable securities are valued at market value and securities not readily marketable are valued at fair value as determined by the Board of Directors. The resulting difference between cost and market (or fair value) is included in income.

Notes to Financial Statements, Continued September 30, 2006

Note 1 - Nature of business and significant accounting policies, continued

F. Property, equipment and depreciation

Property and equipment are stated at cost. Expenditures for additions and improvements are capitalized while replacements, maintenance and repairs which do not improve or extend the lives of the respective assets are expensed currently as incurred. Properties sold or otherwise disposed of are removed from the property accounts, with gains or losses on disposal credited or charged to operations.

Depreciation is provided over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets using the straight-line method.

G. Advertising

The Company expenses advertising costs as they are incurred. Advertising costs were $41,774 for the year ended September 30, 2006. These costs are included in promotional costs on the statement of operations.

H. Income taxes

The Company has elected, by consent of its stockholders, to be taxed as an S corporation under the provisions of the Internal Revenue Code and Wisconsin Statutes. Under those provisions, the Company does not pay federal and Wisconsin corporate income taxes on its taxable income. Instead, the stockholders are liable for their respective shares of the Company's taxable income on their individual tax returns. The Company periodically makes distributions to the stockholders for income taxes.

Note 2 - Concentration of credit risk

The Company maintains cash deposits at several banks. Deposits at each bank are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $100,000 per entity. The Company's cash deposits, at times, exceed these limits.

Note 3 - Cash - Restricted for reserve requirement

The Company is required to maintain sufficient bank accounts and qualified securities as a reserve to protect customer interests pursuant to Securities and Exchange Commission Rule 15c3-3. At September 30, 2006, cash restricted for reserve requirement consists of:

 Cash on deposit
 $ 246,347

 Certificates of deposit
 53,804

 $ 300,151

Notes to Financial Statements, Continued September 30, 2006

Note 4 - Cash - Restricted at clearing house

The Company is required to maintain cash balances at Depository Trust and Clearing Corporation. These restricted cash balances fluctuate periodically based on activity. Depository Trust and Clearing Corporation holds securities owned by the Company and is the Company's primary clearing agent.

Note 5 - Due from and due to customers and brokers and dealers

Accounts receivable from and payable to customers include amounts due on cash and margin transactions. Securities owned and not yet paid for by customers are held as collateral for receivables. Such collateral is not reflected in the financial statements.

Accounts receivable from and payable to brokers and dealers consist of cash due or payable on security transactions. The security transactions are settled when the underlying securities are delivered. Securities sold but not yet delivered are held as collateral for monies due upon delivery. Independent Auditors' Report on Internal Control Structure Required by SEC Rule 17a-5

To the Board of Directors H. C. Denison Co. Sheboygan, Wisconsin

In planning and performing our audit of the financial statements of H. C. Denison Co. (Company) for the year ended September 30, 2006, we considered its internal control structure, including control activities for safeguarding securities, in order to determine our auditing procedures for the purpose of expressing our opinion on the financial statements and not to provide assurance on the internal control structure.

Also, as required by Rule 17a-5(g)(1) of the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), we have made a study of the practices and procedures followed by H. C. Denison Co. including tests of compliance with such practices and procedures that we considered relevant to the objectives stated in Rule 17a-5(g), (1) in making the periodic computations of aggregate indebtedness (or aggregate debits) and net capital under Rule 17a-3(a)(11) and the reserve required by Rule 15c3-3(e); (2) in making the quarterly securities examinations, counts, verifications and comparisons, and the recordation of differences required by Rule 17a-13; (3) in complying with the requirements for prompt payment for securities under Section 8 of Federal Reserve Regulation T of the Board of Governors of the Federal Reserve System; and (4) in obtaining and maintaining physical possession or control of all fully paid and excess margin securities of customers as required by Rule 15c3-3.

The management of the Company is responsible for establishing and maintaining an internal control structure and the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph. In fulfilling this responsibility, estimates and judgments by management are required to assess the expected benefits and related costs of controls and of the practices and procedures referred to in the preceding paragraph and to assess whether those practices and procedures can be expected to achieve the SEC's above-mentioned objectives. Two of the objectives of internal control and the practices and procedures are to provide management with reasonable, but not absolute, assurance that assets for which the Company has responsibility are safeguarded against loss from unauthorized use or disposition and that transactions are executed in accordance with management's authorization and recorded properly to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America. Rule 17a-5(g) lists additional objectives of the practices and procedures listed in the preceding paragraph.

Because of inherent limitations in internal control or the practices and procedures referred to above, error or fraud may occur and not be detected. Also, projection of any evaluation of them to future periods is subject to the risk that they may become inadequate because of changes in conditions or that the effectiveness of their design and operation may deteriorate. Our consideration of the internal control structure would not necessarily disclose all matters in the internal control structure that might be material weaknesses under standards established by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. A material weakness is a condition in which the design or operation of the specific internal control components elements do not reduce to a relatively low level the risk that error or fraud in amounts that would be material in relation to the financial statements being audited may occur and not be detected within a timely period by employees in the normal course of performing their assigned functions. However, we noted no matters involving internal control, including control activities for safeguarding securities, that we consider to be material weaknesses as defined above.

We understand that practices and procedures that accomplish the objectives referred to in the second paragraph of this report are considered by the SEC to be adequate for its purposes in accordance with the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 and related regulations, and that practices and procedures that do not accomplish such objectives in all material respects indicate a material inadequacy for such purposes. Based on this understanding and on our study, we believe that the Company's practices and procedures were adequate at September 30, 2006 to meet the SEC's objectives.

This report is intended solely for the information and use of the Board of Directors, management, the Securities and Exchange Commission, and other regulatory agencies which rely on Rule 17a-5(g) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934 in their regulation of registered brokers and dealers, and is not intended to be and should not be used by anyone other than these specified parties.
